DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

Claim 42 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is not supported by either a specific asserted utility or a well established utility.

"A computer program product" is not statutory because the "computer programming instructions" on line 5 is not executed by a physical computer equipment. Since the specification on page 28, line 19 to 29, line 10 describes that " the invention may also be embodied in a carrier wave travelling over an appropriate medium such as airwaves, optical lines, electric lines, etc." , the subject matter of claim 42 is therefore nonstatutory. Applicant is required to either delete or amend the part of specification.

Claim 42 is also rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph. Specifically, since the claimed invention is not supported by either a specific asserted utility or a well established utility for the reasons set forth above, one skilled in the art clearly would not know how to use the claimed invention. Regarding to " a computer program product" in claim 42, the specification does not describe what " a computer program product" is comprised of . Therefore, " a "computer program product" is not described in the specification.

Claims 43-53 are therefore rejected because they depend on claim 42 respectively.

Allowable Subject Matter

Art Unit: 2416

Claims 1-21, 23-41, 54-72 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

In claims 1, 21, 54, the prior art in the record does not disclose when the messages meets the filtering criteria, copying the message including a payload and sending the copied message including the payload to a memory device such that the copied message including the payload is stored at the memory device; wherein the copying and sending steps are performed by the cable headend.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
